

WORTH CELEBRATING

One smile led to another, and Naples' favorite waterfront hangout is the perfect place to show them off

Every great celebration needs a few essentials: a waterfront view, a band warming up as the sun drops over the bay, something delicious rolling out of a food truck window, and a smile you don't think twice about flashing when someone raises a glass your way.

Robin Forbes and her business partner, Camille Kielty, have all four covered. As general managers of Celebration Park, they run the East Naples spot where the sign out front promises it's where Naples comes to unwind. And thanks to Dr. William "Bill" Campbell at Park Family & Cosmetic Dentistry, they both have more to smile about.

The smile Robin was tired of hiding

Robin came to Park Family & Cosmetic Dentistry on a referral from another patient, and she didn't waste a minute. "I made my appointment right away because I was very unhappy with my smile," she says. "I hated my eye teeth and had some discoloration."

If you've ever tilted your head in a photo to hide one tooth, you know that feeling. It shows up everywhere: every picture, toast, and first hello.

The first visit changed that. "I was greeted by an incredible staff," Robin recalls. "Once I met with Dr. Campbell and his assistant James, I was totally delighted with their knowledge and confidence they could give me the smile I wanted."

And now? "My smile is exactly what I had hoped for, and I love to show it off," she says. "Alissa, my hygienist, keeps my smile looking great."

Then it was Camille's turn

A smile you love gets noticed, especially by those who see it often. "I trusted them," Robin says of recommending Dr. Campbell to Camille. "They were knowledgeable, confident and made me feel comfortable."

Camille wanted a better smile without it looking "done." "I wanted my smile to look natural," she says. Dr. Campbell restored it with porcelain crowns, custom restorations that protect a tooth while blending with the teeth around it.

What she remembers most is the conversation. "He explained what he was doing and made me feel comfortable throughout the process," Camille says. "I appreciated that he took the time to make sure I understood everything."

The details you'd never notice

The best cosmetic work is the kind nobody can spot. Dr. Campbell starts with the whole smile, not a single tooth.

"With porcelain crowns, we're matching the shape, size and color to the rest of the smile, so the result looks natural," Dr. Campbell explains. "Whenever a patient is referred to us by someone they trust, it's a responsibility we take seriously," he says. "We want that trust to be well placed."

Is your smile due for a grand reopening?

Do you smile with your lips closed in photos? Do old crowns or fillings look darker than they used to? Do your teeth look longer than they did five years ago? Have you been saying "someday" for more than one season? Any one of those is worth a conversation.

The celebration returns

Speaking of grand reopenings: after a season of renovations, Celebration Park is back, reopening October 1 with a block party for the whole family.

The fun doesn't stop there. The park fills its year-round calendar with family-friendly events, live music on the water, chef-driven food trucks and handcrafted cocktails. Car lovers, take note: Celebration Park is also the newest host of the Cars on 5th celebration, bringing some of Naples' most head-turning cars to the waterfront.

If you spot Robin or Camille, ask about their smiles. They love to show them off.

One smile, then another

One person found a team she trusted, and that trust brought her business partner to the same chair. Camille's advice for anyone nervous about getting started: "I would tell them to talk to Dr. Campbell. He made the process comfortable for me, and I am glad I decided to do it."
